DETAILED ACTION

The drawing objection is withdrawn, per the cancelled claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 14 recites in subparagraph "f" that "the plurality of first seals are spaced apart between the plurality of first seals...". How exactly first seals can be spaced apart between the plurality of first seals is unknown. Additionally, there are no "first seals" set forth in the specification, although the spec. does set forth "seals" and "second seals", so it is somewhat clear what the "first seals" are, but it is not definite. Finally, the "communicates" in the second to the last line of the claim also does not make sense.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 14-18 and 20, as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pharo US 5,427,830.

Art Unit: 3728

Re claim 14, Pharo discloses in Figs. 4B and 4B1 air packing bag, comprising an upper sheet 117, a lower sheet 117A, 119, an upper film and a lower film (both un-numbered in Fig. 4B1) disposed within an air passage 114, an intermediate heat proof member 118, a plurality of bladders defined between the upper sheet and lower sheet defined by plurality of first seals (the intermediate seals 115) and second seals (those seals disposed at the lateral ends of the air packing bag which are not shown in the drawing 4B due to the drawing being a segment of the total device, and those seals 115 formed at the top and bottom of the device). The first seals are space apart. The air passage 114 is formed along the end of the bladders and communicates with an interior of each of the bladder and includes an open end which is best shown in the other drawing figures.

Re claim 15, the opening between two adjacent second seals is construed as the opening at the lateral sides of the device that defines the air passage 144 opening through which air is entered into the device.

Re claim 16, note coupling points 116. Internal air pressure would act to push the inner and outer films toward the sheet to which they are attached (see Fig. 4B1).

Re claim 17 the fluid is air or inert gas.

Re claim 18, each bladder has an independent air inlet (in Fig 4B, each bladder actually has several air inlets).

Re claim 20, the sheets and films are made of plastic.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pharo US 5,427,830.

Pharo does not disclose unevenly spaced apart first seals and second seals.

Applicant has not disclosed that the uneven spacing provides any advantage over other configurations, is used for any particular purpose, or solves any particular stated problem. Accordingly, the uneven spacing would be an obvious aesthetic choice of design to one of ordinary skill in the art so as to achieve an aesthetic that would be identifiable in the marketplace.

Response to Arguments

No explicit arguments have been presented. The Remarks only set forth that the prior art does not anticipate the claims, but does not explicitly set forth the supposed deficiencies of the rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
